Programme

Overview

The global water management programme is aimed to attract the best and most senior managers from across the globe within the water sector.

The programme will last approximately 2 months and has international recognition from the Chartered Management Institute.

All candidates who attend this programme and complete the assessments will receive up to 12 certificates of recognition, CMI membership and come out with Foundation Chartered Status (fCMgr) with the opportunity to progress to full Chartered Manager status (CMgr).

The programme will be delivered over a period of two months, with 6 days in RIyadh and another 6 days in London. The attendees will also be given time to complete the online CMI bite size programmes. To obtain certification and chartered status - candidates must complete all the online bite size programmes and if they want to become fully chartered then they must complete the relevant assessment. The programme also includes experts in the water sector who will present on current challenges and opportunities.

Who will be attending these workshops?

It is proposed that these workshops are aimed at senior management within the water sector. To qualify for these workshops the attendee would need to at least have one individual directly reporting to them but also possess the right kind of seniority to get the most out of these workshops. There will be a pre-assessment done by us in order to determine who will qualify. The prerequisites required will be line management responsibility, at least 5 years strategic management experience and must be working in the water sector.

Benefits of the workshop

- > First-class delivery around management and leadership themes that are pertinent within the water sector
- > Discussions from reputable experts in the water sector
- > Certification and membership from the Chartered Management Institute
- > Sharing of best practices
- > Networking opportunities
